Protect your assets

Secure database: www.euro-id.com

Each asset is recorded on the Euro-ID database along with its unique tracking number. This provides a link between the owner and the equipment. This secure database is accessible to registered users via the internet (computer or Smartphone) anywhere in the world. They will be provided with individual account numbers and access codes to ensure complete security of information. The Euro-ID database is totally secure from unauthorised visitors. The ability to make changes is limited to account holders with controlled access.

Lost...and found

Anyone who comes across a stolen item can report the find on the Euro-ID website or by calling the international freephone number: 00 800 830 810 00

If the finder calls, the company will check their records and contact the registered owner to verify the current status of the equipment.

International Recovery Service (IRS)

When missing equipment has been found, the international Euro-ID recovery network verifies the finder and identifies and locates the item. The protected equipment is then retrieved and returned to its rightful owner. It will be sent anywhere in the world free of charge usually within 24 hours.

The Euro-ID Network

The international Euro-ID recovery network has offices in many major countries. Local personnel answer the international freephone number which automatically connects the finder to the nearest office in the network. Their knowledge of their own territory leads to greater efficiency in the tracking and recovery of equipment.

Online Asset Management

Asset management:

The online database provides a flexible asset management facility enabling registration of specific information relevant to the protected equipment.

Fully personalisable database.

The Euro-ID database gives the flexibility to personalize an account, adding and naming fields to suit requirements, creating a powerful tool to manage assets.

Access via computer or Smartphone:

Access to the euro-id database is possible via either computer or Smartphone. This combination allows management of data locally using a computer or entirely autonomously with a Smartphone.

Checking the status of an item or updating information is easily done without any special equipment.
